We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of R. G. Freeman Securities, Inc. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We have conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Note 1 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

a. Organization

The Company was incorporated in the State of California on February 14, 1983, and began operating on May 16, 1984. The Company is a Broker Dealer and is engaged in the selling of general securities in limited partnership interests, direct participation programs, investment company shares and variable annuities. Additionally, the Company is a registered financial advisor and in that capacity has power of attorney and earns a management fee for managing client's portfolios. Based upon revenue, the advisory activity represents the major portion of its business. The Company's customers are located primarily in Northern California.

b. Method of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

c. Cash and Equivalents

For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all investments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

d. Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are stated at full value, no provision has been made, as all accounts are deemed to be fully collectible. Therefore, no allowance for doubtful accounts was recorded.

e. Property and Equipment

Equipment is stated at cost and depreciated over the estimated useful life, which is five years, utilizing straight-line method. For income tax purposes these assets are depreciated on an accelerated method. Total depreciation expense for the year is $227.

f. Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 – Income Taxes

Income tax expense for the year is as follows:

Federal	$	0
State		800
Deferred		0
	$	800

At December 31, 2002 the Company has net operating loss carry forward available for income tax purposes as follows:

Expiration Date
December 31, 2018	$ 18,400
December 31, 2019	10,400
December 31, 2020	3,009
December 31, 2021	4,346
December 31, 2022	25,209
	$ 61,364

Note 2 – Income Taxes (continued)

Additionally, the Company has Section 179 carry forwards expiring in December 31, 2010, in the amount of $10,529.

Income taxes are provided on income reported in the financial statements. Deferred taxes are provided in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards No. 109. The total change in deferred income tax balance as of December 31, 2002 was $0.

At December 31, 2002, the Company has net operating losses and Section 179 deductions totaling $71,893 that may be offset against future taxable income through 2022. A deferred tax asset of $10,829 has been recognized for the carry-forward. However, no tax benefit has been reported in the 2002 financial statements because the Company believes there is at least a 50% chance that the carry-forward will expire unused. Accordingly, the $10,829 tax benefit of the tax carry-forward has been offset by a $10,829 valuation allowance. As time passes, management will be able to better assess the amount of the benefit it will realize for using the carry-forward. The expected tax benefit of $10,829 that would result from applying the statutory tax rates to the pretax loss of $71,893 differs from the amounts reported in the financial statements because of the increase in the valuation allowance.

Note 3 – Reconciliation of Net Capital Computed to Audited Net Capital

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rules (Rule 15c 3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and require the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. December 31, 2002, unaudited balance computed by respondent	$10,211
Audit adjustments and non-allowable assets	3
Audited net capital at December 31, 2002	$ 10,214

Board of Directors R.G. Freeman Securities, Inc. San Jose, California

Exhibit A

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplementary schedules of R.G. Freeman Securities, Inc., for the year ended December 31, 2002, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons.
- 2. Recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
- 3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

R.G. Freeman Securities, Inc. SEC No. 8-31407 Supplementary Information Required Compliance and Internal Controls December 31, 2002

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design or operation may deteriorate.

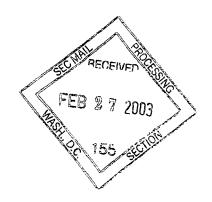

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under the standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be a material weakness as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material in adequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and our study, we believe the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used for any other purpose.
